

Price and Performance! Costs Less!! Acts Better!!!

The new balance we have attained in the Willys Six whereby we combine greater power with sturdier light weight makes it a snappier, livelier car—and easier to handle.

We want you to compare its performance with cars costing around $1600—the price of the Willys Six is $1295.

That's considerably less—and see if you don't consider the Willys Six a better performer.

Also the Willys Six stands out as one of the season's smartest cars in a comparison of appearance.

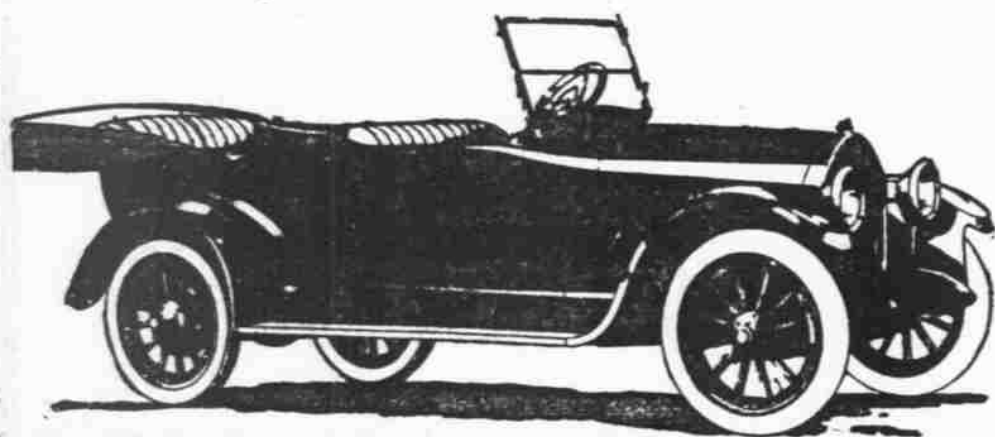

It would be hard to design a more beautiful car at any price—new double cowl body—slanting windshield—long low racy lines.

It acts the part and looks the part of a $1600 Six—think of the excess value at $1295!

150 CAPITAL MEN RECEIVE COMMISSIONS AT FORT MYER

More than 150 Washingtonians have received their commissions as second lieutenants in the National Army. In fairness to everyone concerned, however, Second Lieutenant Ford is not a pacifist nor a Detroit automobile maker. He hails from Morris-town, N. J. Second Lieutenant Bryan, too, is not a pacifist, a Nebraskan, a "great commoner," or a former Cabinet member, nor did he ever run for the Presidency. He is just a normal young man whose home is in this city.

With the names of Oliver P. Newman, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of the District, and Granville Fortescue, writer and lecturer on military topics, heading the roll as majors, respectively, of field artillery and infantry, an imposing list of men well known in the Capital is selected to lead the new citizen army.

Bennett Clark a Captain.
Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Champ Clark and parliamentarian of the House, was one of the twenty-one Washington men made captains of infantry. Gerald Egan, son of Maurice Francis Duncanson, minister to Denmark, and himself well-known as a Capital newspaper man, also was given an infantry captaincy.

In the list of infantry officers there were two majors, twenty-one captains, sixteen first lieutenants, and fifty-five second lieutenants from Washington. In addition three captains, three first lieutenants, and seven second lieutenants of infantry were selected for the national army.

In addition to Commissioner Newman's being commissioned major of artillery, there were three Washingtonians given captaincies, four made first lieutenants, and twenty-three second lieutenants.

In addition, officers were selected for the cavalry, and the quartermaster, ordnance, and adjutant general's staff departments.

List of Officers.
The list of Washingtonians commissioned, as announced by the War Department today, follows:

REGULAR ARMY NOW ABOVE WAR STRENGTH

The regular army today is more than a thousand men over its war strength of 300,000, and it was brought to war strength as a volunteer organization, without aid of the draft.

Since April 1, the War Department announces, more than 185,000 regulars have been recruited. When the draft quota was fixed, 45,000 was set aside to bring the regulars to war strength.

Completion of the recruiting campaign will permit the use of this force for the national army and the national guard.

CITY BUYS SITE FOR NEW POLICE PRECINCT STATION

The District Commissioners yesterday acquired the property at Seventeenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast as a site for a police station. A new precinct, to be known as No. 12, will be established in this rapidly developing section as soon as Congress appropriates the money needed for a building. The land was secured through condemnation proceedings, the price, $2,400, being approved by Justice Hitz.

The District of Columbia is also about to secure a vacant lot adjoining the Garrison school on Twelfth street northwest between R and S streets for a playground. A commission appointed to appraise the land reported in Justice Hitz a valuation of about $7,400. The award has not yet been approved by the court.

An innovation in realty selling was made yesterday when an auction sale was held in Justice Hitz' court. The property at the southeast corner of Eleventh and F streets northwest in the heart of the business section was sought by two bidders, who raised the price from $75,000 to $79,300. John P. Story, Jr., realty broker, outbid James O'Donnell, the druggist, and was awarded the property. The price figures about $70 per square foot.

Brokers completed 121 transactions during the past six days. This shows a decline of 25 deals from the activity of the preceding week, but is five sales in advance of the corresponding week of 1916.

The loan market was about on a par with the preceding week. The exact figures in loans were $44,714.51. This sum was borrowed on the security of 406 lots at an average interest rate of 5.8 per cent.

Northwest property was preferred as a basis of loan security, being pledged for an aggregate of $245,190. County property was encumbered to the extent of $151,837.51.

REDSKIN ALLY FLIER TAKES GERMAN BRIDE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The question of nationality is of small moment to Flawbert William Riches, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, who boasts of his Americanism. Early in 1914 the Riches went to France, joined the Lafayette Escadrille, and has done valiant service in flying for France and the Allies ever since. Recently he obtained a furlough and came back to America.

Riches appeared at the marriage license bureau yesterday and went through all the formalities incidental to wedding Miss Annie Merik. When the customary questions were put to the bride it was learned that she was born in Berlin. But that made no difference to Riches' estimation of his fiancée, for no sooner was the license filed out than they requested City Clerk P. J. Scully to marry them. The ceremony was performed in the Marriage Chapel and as soon as the honeymoon ends Riches' furlough will have expired and he and his German-born bride will separate. She will go to his parents in Oklahoma and he will proceed to France, where he will resume his war on the boches.

WORMWOOD'S ANIMALS AT CHESAPEAKE BEACH

Each afternoon and evening of this week and next, Prof. Wormwood, king of monkey trainers, will give exhibitions at Chesapeake Beach. He has ten monkeys and the same number of dogs, all trained to perfection. Prof. Wormwood has been engaged in training monkeys and canines about forty years, and knows their habits well.

Among his dogs is a large black French poodle that he features as the only mind reading dog on exhibition. He answers any mathematical problem asked up to four figures, including multiplication, addition, and subtraction. Ernest Seton Thompson, the noted writer on animals and their habits, kept this dog several days experimenting with him, and when returning him stated in writing that he was the most wonderful animal he had ever investigated, and that no explanation of his wonderful talents could be satisfactorily given.

The United States Film Company is constructing a large photoplay for the French government showing various phases of the war, and they are using Wormwood's monkeys at his home in Pennington, N. J., in a number of the pictures. The troupe of animal actors return direct to their home after their Chesapeake Beach engagement to complete their part in the film.

No doubt the children of Washington, as well as their parents, will be greatly interested in these shows, and during the short engagement the Beach will be taxed to its utmost to take care of the daily crowds.
